"We Californians," Particularly
"We Glendalians,"
Should Be Proud

RECOGNITION that California is the goal that a great many easterners are hoping to reach some day is given additional significance in an article appearing in the last issue of the Saturday Evening Post. It is difficult for us who reside in Southern California to understand how any person who can live in California would choose anywhere else to make his home. One has to realize, however, that a necessary adjunct to an appreciation of even our wonderful climate is contentment—contentment in our homes and also in our business activities.

It was only a short few years ago when California, and especially Los Angeles county, was accepted as a place to spend a vacation, or a preferred place for those who were in quest of health, but as for business—there was nothing doing.

In the last three or four years this condition of things has been undergoing a rapid change, until today the city of Los Angeles and the surrounding territory is recognized throughout the land as a white spot in business activity.

THE additional factories have been added to contentment and contentment has been the means of securing the factories. Level headed business men readily recognize that workmen who are contented, with their home life, make better workmen and a large percentage of California workmen own their own homes and what gives one more satisfaction than to own your own little piece of ground with a nice bungalow on it.

It makes no difference how small the house—with California sunshine, which makes California roses bloom, it can be made as picturesque as any millionaire's residence. Life with contentment is worthwhile, but without it becomes a bore.

We, of Glendale, appreciate all the good things we gain by living in Southern California. We think that we are to be congratulated more on account of living in Glendale, for we acknowledge that our city is the best place in which to build your home, in the best state in the Union.

HOWEVER, in accepting congratulations, we must not lose sight of the fact that the future of our city depends a great deal in providing a means of livelihood, for the many people who are coming here to live. That will mean additional factories. We have been securing quite a few factories lately, in fact a list of them would probably surprise you, but we must appreciate the importance of this matter and put forth our utmost endeavors towards getting them here in numbers.

L. A. PERMIT IS ASKED BY BUS LINE

Formal Application Entered by People's Co. Before Public Utilities

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—Formal application for temporary permits to operate 26 motor bus lines in various parts of the city was made to the board of public utilities today by the People's Motor Bus company.

In a letter accompanying the application, William G. McAdoo, counsel for the company, declared that the permits for one year should be considered "merely as a stop-gap to facilitate the inauguration of the service, and are in no way to be regarded as a substitute for the permanent franchise which will come before the people at the election May 1." It was proposed to begin operations within 30 days after the short-time permits are granted.

The application did not set forth what rate of fare would be charged.

LITERARY FOLKS TALK OF AMERICA

Section Holds Meeting,
Discussing the Beauty of Country

MUSIC ON PROGRAM

Members Tell of Various Trips to Parts of the United States

"America the Beautiful," with the lure of the southland, the charm of rugged New England, Colorado, the Philippine Islands and a trip to Panama, interspersed with music, was the subject of one of the most interesting meetings held by the members of the literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, which met yesterday at the clubhouse with Mrs. J. E. Sargent, curator, in charge.

The program opened with patriotic quotations and followed by the singing of "America the Beautiful," by Mrs. K. A. Puffer, Jr., accompanied at the piano by Mrs. K. A. Puffer, Sr. Mrs. W. H. Verity gave a very interesting account of her experiences on a trip from New Orleans to Panama in 1913, about three months before war was turned out in the canal. She described Panama as being a quaint old Spanish sea town with high sea walls on account of the twenty-foot tides, which makes it necessary for boats to be anchored outside and freight and passengers landed in smaller vessels. "The canal is about fifty miles long. The atmosphere can be visited at any time of the year and has a very even climate, the average temperature being about 70. From June to November they have rains almost every afternoon for a few hours," she said.

The "Philippine Islands" was the subject of the talk given by Mrs. M. A. Gallagher. She displayed a number of articles of handicraft, work, basketry, etc., made by the people of the islands. She told of her trip from Seattle to Japan and Manila. In describing the latter city she said: "I was particularly impressed with the cleanliness of Manila. The islands are populated mostly by the Moros. For over a year Mr. Gallagher and I made our home at Cagayan in the northern part of Mindanao. The language of the educated people is Spanish. The islands are divided into different tribes, each having its own dialect, which is one of the reasons for the difficulty in uniting the people. The houses of the old Spanish type, with the people living on the second floor. On account of the dampness the temperature, which is about 80 to 95, seems much higher and everybody takes a siesta in the afternoon. About 5 p. m., when the breeze comes up, things begin to liven up. The Chinese are the great merchants in the Philippines and in every town there are Chinese shops or general stores."

The story of "Colorado," from the time it became a state, up to the present, was most interestingly told by Mrs. H. S. Garlinghouse, who first saw Denver when it was a small village on Cherry creek and a supply town for the miners. She said "at that time the eastern part of Colorado was almost a desert waste. The buffalo roamed the plains. With the railroad completed, Denver grew rapidly. When it was found that the lead which had been passed by in the mining operations at Leadville was very rich in silver, a big boom started. I reached Leadville in the fall of 1879. At the height of its popularity the city had a population of about 40,000, but the silver boom of 1892, when the price of silver dropped so affected it that now its population is between 400 and 5000." Mrs. Garlinghouse taught school at Leadville, one of her pupils there being Will Irwin, who is now a popular writer.

"The Southland" was the subject of an interesting paper read by Mrs. C. E. Norton. She described New Orleans, with its French markets and narrow streets and balconies and told of a trip to Mobile, Alabama, going through the swamps and the tropical country with the trees covered with gray moss. The state of Virginia she described as being the "mother of presidents." Alabama has lots of mountainous country which she never has explored. The mountains are so thick with verdure and trees, etc., that it is practically impossible to protect oneself. All through the south they have wonderful fruit. Tennessee is the hardwood market for the world, furnishing more hardwood than any other state in the Union. At Tusculum, Ala., they have a wonderful school for colored people. The negro public school system in the south is identical with the white. There is no discrimination, the school appropriation, etc., being just the same. In Tennessee there is a marble quarry 100 miles long and 10 miles wide. The picture of the southern plantations the days of slavery was told by Mrs. Norton, who also delighted

BEWARE OF SNAKES SAYS A. B. MOODY AFTER LONG HIKE

"Beware of Snakes," is the warning to hikers visiting the hills and mountains which is given by A. B. Moody of 533 Burchett street. Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Moody and family were in the hills at Little Tujunga and although Mr. Moody heard a noise in the underbrush he did not associate it with being a snake on account of the early season. However the snake, which was a rattler, narrowly escaped striking Mr. Moody's small son who was walking just in front of him. Mr. Moody states that he has resided in San Diego county where he has had occasion to be in the mountains but rattlesnakes are usually not looked for until the hot weather comes.

EDISON COMPANY GIVES SHOW AT HIGH SCHOOL

Spectacular Handling of
noon and Evening

This afternoon and evening, representatives of the Southern California Edison company are giving at Glendale high their celebrated road show in which some amazing and most interesting stunts with electrical currents will be performed for the entertainment and instruction of the public. The several experiments will prove, for example, how it is possible to send a heavy charge through the human body in safety when a lighter one would be deadly. In other experiments lamps will be lighted by the fingers of the subject from the electrical current passing through his body, and many other curious things will be done.

The matinee, which will begin at 2:05, will be limited to students in the science department of the school. At the evening show, which will open at 8 o'clock, the general public will be invited. There will be no charge.

GRAND VIEW P-T. A. ENTERTAINED BY MRS. COTTON

The members of the Grandview Parent-Teacher association met yesterday at the school and were entertained by Mrs. John Cotton, who gave a group of delightful vocal numbers and a very interesting talk on "Etchings." Mrs. Cotton also spoke to the pupils of the school previous to the association meeting and exhibited a collection of Mr. Cotton's etchings. The treasurer reported that $39.35 had been netted at the food sale held last Saturday.

Plans were perfected for the neighborhood community service party to be held at the school grounds next Tuesday. There will be no admission fee and everyone is invited to attend. A committee of six, including Mrs. Myrtle Buckman, Mrs. T. P. Evans, Mrs. G. V. Finney, Mrs. Fitch, Mrs. C. L. Jenkins and Mrs. Dorothy Berryman, was appointed to circulate petitions for the establishment of a kindergarten in the northwest section of the city. # S. P. DEPOT DISCUSSED BY C. OF C.

Railroad Willing to Build
$50,000 Station at Cerritos

ASK STREET OPENING

Other Matters Come Before the Directors at Luncheon

That the officials of the Southern Pacific are considering very favorably the location of its new $50,000 waiting station at the foot of Cerritos avenue, providing the city will open that street from Gardena to the company's right of way, was the statement made at the meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce yesterday noon by George Karr of the railroad committee. The company was planning to place the station at the foot of Central, he said, simply because that is the only street that opens through the right of way. The engineers of the company are coming to Glendale to give the situation another "once-over."

The matter of providing space in the Merchants' Exposition to be held in Glendale soon was taken up and the exposition committee was authorized to secure the desired space.

Prof. G. U. Moyse addressed the board on the proposition of the chamber and the school authorities becoming closer affiliated so that the board members might know first-hand more about the conditions of the city schools. He said he was glad to occupy a place on the school committee and expressed approval of the plan.

Mr. McCormack of the exposition committee reported that $17,000 worth of contracts for the exposition had been sold and that it was expected that by the first of the month the remaining $3000 would have been disposed of.

President Smith and Secretary Sanders were appointed to attend the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley, which was scheduled to be held at San Fernando last night.

That the Glendale Odd Fellows lodge will hold a celebration of the 104th anniversary of that organization on April 28 was reported to the board by Mr. Hall of that organization. He asked that the chamber give its endorsement to this matter and that the street decorations that are now owned by the city be loaned to the lodge for this occasion. All of this was granted and Roy L. Kent suggested that the decorations be hung early in the week in order that they may be used for the national play week demonstration that the Boy Scout organization will put on April 27. The Rotary club of Glendale will have a charge of this play week.

A committee consisting of R. F. Kitterman, L. H. Wilson and George Bentley was appointed to take up the matter of decorating the city for play week with the Glendale city council at its meeting next Thursday night.

A committee consisting of Peter L. Ferry, Jesse Smith and C. D. Lusby was appointed to meet with the Glendale Advancement association Wednesday evening to support the recommendation of the chamber for the paving of Glendale avenue with six inches of concrete. It was reported that the Nash Motor company is desirous of securing land in Glendale. Ten to fifteen acres will be required. This matter was referred to the industrial committee.

Eight Delegates Visit San Fernando

Eight members of the Glendale chamber of commerce attended the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando Valley held at San Fernando Tuesday night. These members were: Peter L. Ferry, W. E. Hewitt, Jesse Smith, C. D. Lusby, L. T. Rowley, J. Ray Bentley and Secretary E. F. Sanders.

The meeting was an unusually active one. Address desirous of being considered for the establishment of a public utility by Congressmen Lindeberg and Mr. Kennedy of the Public Utilities Board of Los Angeles.

PROCLAMATION OF THE MAYOR

"We stop playing not because we grow old; we grow old because we stop playing." America is to recognize this fundamental instinct that urges old and young to play. As mayor of Glendale I wish to give local impetus to this movement by proclaiming the week of April 22 to 28 as Play Week, and requesting the merchants to close their places of business for one hour, from 3 to 4 p. m., on Friday, the 27th, during the boys' parade.

During Play Week I trust that all people and organizations of Glendale will co-operate with Community Service in a program of play. Play with your boy and girl; play with your neighbors. Let's make each meeting of the week an occasion for play.

(Signed) SPENCER ROBINSON,
Mayor of Glendale.

ANNUAL KITE TOURNEY TO OPEN MAY 5

Open to All Grammar School Children With Sprints and Dashes

An event which promises to be of almost as much interest to parents as to boys and girls of the grammar schools of Glendale is the annual kite tournament set for May 5. It will be as pretty and exciting a contest as could be staged, and Albert Blanton, supervisor of physical education in the city schools, who has announced it, says that if the field the committee has in mind can be secured, conditions should be ideal for the contestants and spectators.

Besides the customary varieties of kites and the contests for speed and height, there will be a prize for the best emblem kite and it will be possible for the organizations of the city that are interested in kite making to supplement the prize list with special awards for a "Rotary kite," a "Kiwanis flyer" or a "K. of C. bird."

As a preliminary to the contest the greatest kite specialist in the United States, Charles M. Miller, who is a neighbor of Glendale, in Eagle Rock, has agreed to give the contestants a talk on kite making and flying with blackboard diagrams, before the great event comes off.

As Mr. Blanton has explained, this is not a school activity but rather a leisure time activity, and parents with ambitious boys may as well resign themselves to floors littered with string and covered with kites for the next month.

As indicated, it will be limited to pupils of grammar and intermediate schools of the Glendale district and to high school pupils under 15.

The first event on the program will be the "construction race," in which two boys will work together with paste, sticks, glue, paper, string, etc., and the pair which first gets a kite made and sent into the air will win.

Another race will be for the greatest flyer, a pair of spring scales will be attached to the end of the kite string and the one that registers the strongest pull will win.

Determined by a surveyor with a transit.

Then there will be quarter-mile and eighth-mile dashes. String of these lengths will be measured the day before and given out, and the first boy to pay out his string and bring the kite back will win.

The largest kite and for the smallest one, in the last mentioned class it is expected a boy in the Grand View school will be an entrant, as he won such a prize in a Los Angeles school tournament.

The best emblem kite, representing any organization the boy chooses, such as the Rotary, Kiwanis, Y. M. C. A., for which special judges will be provided, will also draw a prize.

Other awards will be made for the best novelty kite, the most artistic kite, best tailed kite and best tailless kite.

Each contestant in the flying classes is expected to make his own kite but can secure all the advice and help possible before hand. As an aid the Glendale public library has prepared an bibliography of books and magazines in the library on kite making, the best of which is said to be "Kite Craft and Kite Construction," by Charles M. Miller, assistant supervisor of manual training in the Los Angeles schools, who, as stated, lives in Eagle Rock.

To prove the general public interest in the matter, the Bentley Lumber company has agreed to make the proper kind of sticks of strong spruce wood, which will be sold to the boys at cost. Mr. Blanton is advising the use of these sticks to avoid the disappointment many a boy has experienced when his kite collapsed in a head wind because of the breaking of the sticks.

BURGLARS VISIT GALBRAITH HOME

Thieves entered the home of Jas. Galbraith, 453 West Colorado street, at about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, while the owner of the home was working in the garden, and got away with $400 in gold coins and 10 shares of stock in the Coast Tire and Rubber company, having a valuation of $125. This affair was personally investigated by Chief Fraser of the Glendale police department.

FINAL AWARDS FOR SCHOOL BUILDINGS

Glendale Board of Education Issues Contracts for Construction

The most important business transacted at the meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday night was the final awarding of architectural commissions for the various school buildings to be constructed.

George M. Lindsey, to whom had already been assigned Acadia and Grand View units was also awarded the Central avenue school contract.

To Alfred Priest, to whom had previously been granted the work at Glendale avenue, Columbus and Pacific, was given the Doran street school.

To Arthur G. Lindley, new in the field of Glendale, was awarded commissions for Broadway and Cerritos avenue schools.

To Charles F. Rittenhouse went the commission for the new building at Magnolia.

This division of commissions will mean that the work of preparing plans and estimates can go on simultaneously and thus save time.

Superintendent White read a letter from the clerk of the county board of supervisors stating that bids for the bond issue would be opened April 20 when a representative of the board of education should be present. President David Hibben was directed to represent the board with power to act.

The board having agreed to purchase a north-west school site of ten acres from the Pelanconi tract, President Hibben, Superintendent White and Business Manager Black were appointed a committee to select the particular ten acres to be purchased.

The financial statement submitted by Business Manager Black was accepted and the board voted to transfer $800 from the kindergarten fund to the special fund.

Permission was granted for a celebration with bonfires on the grounds of the Broadway and Grand View schools the night of April 24 during National play week. Inasmuch as next week Friday, April 27, is to be "Boys' Day" under the patronage of the Rotary club, which is co-operating with Community Service, Superintendent White, Dr. P. O. Lucas and Mrs. A. A. Barton were named as a committee to confer with the Rotary club relative to the observance of the day.

Permission was granted Wilson avenue intermediate school to hold "Patrons' Night" May 24.

GLENDALE HIGH ORCHESTRA TO GIVE CONCERT

Big Events Following
Each Other in Swift
Session at School

Important events are beginning to follow quick in succession at Glendale high and the big thing next week will be the concert to be given by members of the school orchestra Friday night in the school auditorium.

This organization of which Ivan Dow is president, Dorothy Watson, secretary and treasurer; Harold Jones, business manager and Doris Moyse, librarian, has been doing fine things the past year under the leadership of the head of the department, Mrs. Dora Gibson, who has enlarged the scope of the work by requiring the students to practice directing. Part of the program will therefore be given under her direction, and a part under student leadership.

Besides the ensemble numbers it will include, harp, flute and cornet solos. The program has not been worked out in detail but will be published later for the benefit of interested music lovers and patrons of the school.

The tickets have been placed at the low figure of 25 cents and the proceeds will be used to purchase kettledrums for the orchestra.

BOOTLEGGERS' TRUCK IS RELEASED ON BOND

Upon receipt of a writ of claim and a surety bond for $2400, the motor truck, which was taken a short time ago in connection with the arrest of Frank Celino, who is charged with bootlegging, was turned over Tuesday by the Glendale police to Deputy Sheriff Hotchkiss. The truck is still in the Maryland Garage. Celino purchased this truck from the Howard Auto company of Los Angeles, which concern still has an equity of $1200 in the machine.

GLENDALE DAILY PRESS IS THANKED FOR ITS AID

April 13, 1923.

Editor Glendale Press,
Dear Sir:—The committee in charge of the banquet and farewell reception to Father O'Neill at the Tuesday Afternoon club on Wednesday evening wishes to take this opportunity to thank the Glendale Press for the very generous publicity which it gave to the arrangements for the event and for the splendid report of the community's tribute to its departing friend.

The time between the announcement of Father O'Neill's transfer and his departure from Glendale to his new field of labor was so short that it would have been impossible for his friends to join in a great tribute to him without the co-operation of the Press. We feel that we are greatly indebted to the Press, for much of the success of the testimonial was due to the widespread publicity given to our plans.

Father O'Neill and all his former parishioners who attended the farewell reception, join us in attesting to you this slight evidence of our thanks and appreciation.

Yours sincerely,
FRANK P. DUNN,
Chairman.

The club, besides leading in such activities as organized boys' work, community social service and church school departments, will also lay out and equip quarters in the new church building at the corner of Watson and Central avenues for a complete program of social life for men and boys—a development of the neighborhood club idea. Rooms for games will be equipped with the purpose of using the new edifice seven days of the week.

The church school department of the club is planning the rapid development of a men's class on the Bible on Sunday mornings at 9:45 o'clock. Mr. T. G. Stevenson of Montana will conduct this class Sunday mornings. An enthusiastic attendance is promised for next Sunday.

Plans for a get-together of all the men of the church in two weeks are being completed by G. H. Schulte, R. C. Wolcott and A. E. Angier.

A "business family" dinner was given Tuesday night at Glen Inn by the firm of Twining & Myers, realtors of 211 South Brand boulevard, to the office and sales force of that concern, totaling 25 members. The repast began promptly at 6:30 o'clock and continued until nearly 8 o'clock, after which addresses were given by several of the most prominent of the gathering.

"We expect to be in our new home, 227-A South Brand boulevard about May 1," said Mr. Twining to his fellow workers. "That place will be right up to the minute in every respect."

There are two all-year streams on the property, and every lot in the tract either touches the streams, or has some beautiful trees on them. Every homestead is a jewel. We will place this tract on the market within a short time."

"I want you all to know Pere Welch, the man who has hold of the tiller of this firm, so far as the sales are concerned. He is a regular fellow and a square shooter. Mr. Kirkpatrick, who has charge of the house and lot department in an old hand at the game and knows every wrinkle of it."

"We promise all of you fair treatment. Whatever promises we make to you, we will back up. When any improvements will be installed they will go in. We expect you to make no promises to prospective clients in order to make sales that we have not made to you."

"I want to impress two things on your minds," said Mr. Welch, sales manager. "One is that we are all here to make sales. The other is that there are no wrong sales—the right and the wrong way. There will be no wrong way in our concern. Every sale must absolutely be on the level. We will stand for no shady methods."

"We must have the co-operation of every member of this sales force. We can't run this business alone. We are managing sales, not salesmen. You are working with me, not under me. We are co-workers, and are striving for the same results—to make sales. Our business simply has got to go—it can't stand still."

AMERICAN LEAGUE PRESBYTERIANS OPENING GAMES TO HEAR JETER SET FOR TODAY

Record Attendance Is Expected at the Season's First Batfests

[By Associated Press] The new opening day attendance records established yesterday in two national league cities, Cincinnati and Chicago, additional high marks were looked for today when the American League's season got under way.

Topping the junior circuit's program is the dedication of the new Yankee stadium, where the league champions will inaugurate the season with the Boston Red Sox. The other games in the schedule are: Washington at Philadelphia, Chicago at Cleveland, and Detroit at St. Louis.

YANKEE STADIUM OPENING
NEW YORK, April 18.—The Yankee Stadium, baseball's largest park, promised to be packed close to its capacity of 70,000 for dedication ceremonies today in connection with the opening games with the Yankees and the Boston Red Sox. Notables expected to attend included Baseball Commissioner Landis and Governor Smith.

WASHINGTON AT PHILADELPHIA
PHILADELPHIA, April 18.—Fair weather and a capacity crowd were in prospect today for the opening of the American League baseball season with Washington opposing the Athletics. Sammy Hale, infielder, formerly of the Portland, Ore., club, and Wid Matthews, outfielder, obtained from Minneapolis, probably will be the only newcomers in the Athletics' squad.

ST. LOUIS-DETROIT
ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 18.—Minus the services of George Sisler, the team's great player, St. Louis opens the American League season against Detroit here this afternoon. Collins for Detroit and Shocker for St. Louis are the probable pitchers.

CLEVELAND-CHICAGO
CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 18.—Plans were made to accommodate the largest crowd ever witnessed at an inauguration of the American League baseball season for today's game between the Cleveland Indians and the Chicago White Sox.

YACUI RITES ARE FILMED
[By Associated Press] TUCSON, Ariz., April 18.—Persuasion triumphed over tradition and superstition here recently, and for the first time the white man's camera has recorded for future moviegoers the culminating acts of the weird and fascinating series of religious tribal rites celebrated annually by the Yaqui Indians at their village near Tucson.

Heretofore, Yaqui custom has prohibited the photographing of these ceremonies, which are the Indians' version of the "Passion Play," but upon being assured that views of them would be of educational interest to the outside world, the tribal council relented and gave permission to a moving picture photographer to make the film.

To Visit Tabernacle Instead of Holding Own Prayer Meeting

Tonight will be Presbyterian night at the Jerry Jeter tabernacle on East Broadway. There will be no prayer meeting at the Glendale Presbyterian church as the audience voted unanimously last week to attend the Jerry Jeter meeting this evening. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will have a part in the service, and the quartet of the Presbyterian church will be present and sing "Round the Throne," by Donizetti-Shepherd. Mrs. Retts, director of the quartet, will also sing a gospel solo. It is expected that a large audience will be present.

Next Sunday at the morning service infants will be dedicated to the Lord in the ordinance of baptism. Parents whose children are to be baptized will present them in this beautiful and sacred rite during the hour of worship on Sunday morning.

Sunday morning at the quarterly communion service a large number of new members were publicly received. New members are received nearly every Sunday by the session and these are received publicly on the communion Sunday. Tomorrow evening a reception for these new members will be held at the church from 8 to 10 o'clock. All members and their friends are cordially invited to be present. The plans for the reception are in the hands of the F to K division of the membership, of which Mrs. L. A. Hart is the chairman. Corinne Pittenger will give a violin solo. She is a ten year old girl who has been heard most acceptably with well known artists in several large eastern cities. Misses Thelma Moon and Dorothy Garrison of Los Angeles will give a whistling solo. Mrs. John D. Cole brings a vocal solo. Other numbers are being planned for and the new members will be welcomed by H. L. Finlay and a response will be given by one of the new members.

LITERARY FOLKS TALK OF AMERICA

the members with a group of negro jokes. After Mrs. Norton's talk, Mrs. Puffer, Jr., sang "Dixie."

Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson read a paper on "The Historic East," telling of the personality of the rugged New England states and of the influence of the early settlers, which is still being felt. From the days of the early fathers, their homes and furnishings, the Indian wars, religious tyranny, the Puritans and the Boston tea party, to New England today, all these were most vividly pictured.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the club, gave a few words of greeting to the section members and complimented them and the curator, Mrs. Sargent, on the splendid work they have been doing. At the close of the afternoon tea and waters were served by the hostesses, Mrs. S. P. Davis and Mrs. Vernon Rapp.

THE MARKETS

[By Associated Press] NEW YORK, April 18.—Heavy buying of the railroad shares featured the strong upward movement of prices in today's stock market. Short covering operations obviously furnished the impetus for the advance but the volume of sales, which approximated 1,605,000 shares, indicated a marked increase in public participation. Relatively easy money rates and new high prices for raw and refined sugars had a cheerful effect on sentiment. Prices displayed a firm tone at the opening of today's stock market. Operations for the rise were continued in oil, motor, motor accessory and equipment stocks and a selected assortment of railroad shares and specialties. Dupont advanced one point to 140 1/2, another new high record. The early advance in rails was led by Western Pacific which opened a point higher. Baldwin, Studebaker, Pan-American "B" and Mack Truck also registered moderate gains on opening sales.

Trading broadened as the morning progressed and early gains were extended. Canadian Pacific established a new top at 155 3/8, up 1, and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico advanced 3/4. Dupont extended its gain to 6 points, touching 145 1/2. General Motors created a new peak price at 17 1/2, up 3/8. Sugars made a moderate response to a new high price for the refined product at 9.60 cents a pound. An overnight break of ten points was 0.032 cent in German marks was the feature of the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling held steady just below $4.65 1/2, and French francs yielded slightly to 6.52 cents.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—(United Press) Washington's candidates for 1923 crew honors are in training on the Oakland estuary for the three-mile race with the University of California men. Coach Rusty Calley, 19 varsity and freshmen, two coxswains and student manager, Hugh Middleton, make up the personnel of the party from the Seattle institution. The race will be held in the estuary, April 21.

The Seattle huskies, 1922 Pacific coast and national intercollegiate champions, hope to win here and go east again this year, once more capturing the title at Poughkeepsie. The winner of the regatta at Oakland April 21 is practically assured of going to Poughkeepsie.

SAN DIEGO, April 18.—(United Press) More than 250 specimens of howling puppy and dog-dog were entered in the Coronado dog show held recently. Mrs. Elliot Dexter and John Bradshaw were judges of the show.

LEGION NEWS

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred percent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.

Preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion.

OUR NATION'S PRAYER

By Rev. Francis C. Young
Chicago's Poet-Priest

"A holy, Christlike peace we crave;
For this with all our leaders brave
We pray that the Almighty Hand
Will guard and guide our wonderous land
We'll melt with love the swords of men
To make of them the noblest pen.
With this, our hope and sacred
aim,
We will enshrine Old Glory's fame.

"O Flag of Young America,
The splendor of Columbia,
From thee sends forth a hopeful light
That fills our veins and souls with might.
To keep our people ever free,
Dear emblem of true liberty,
We place thee in the Master's care
And humbly end our nation's prayer."

As recited by its author as an invocation at the installation of Portage Park Post, American Legion No. 183.

MILLION DOLLAR SALES NEARED AT SPARR HEIGHTS

Driving down Ocean View avenue from Michigan avenue, the state highway, into Sparr Heights, one can notice the wonderful development that has taken place within the last six months. This locality was absolutely "dead." Then came Sparr Heights and everything leaped into life and activity. Engineering crews were scattered all over the landscape, teams were put to work with plow and scraper, cement crews became busy laying curbs and gutters, and ditches were dug for the miles of gas and water mains.

Before this development was well under way the buyers with a realization of the future of this district swarmed into the tract with the result that the sales for a period of six months have aggregated but a trifle short of a million dollars.

One of the most striking changes has been wrought by the installation of the electric lighting system all over the first unit. Some forty odd big lamps have been hung, one at each street intersection, and the scene at night is very beautiful as one motors up or down the Verdugo road. This same system is to be immediately extended over the different units of the immense tract as they are developed, thus insuring to the residents of Sparr Heights all the conveniences of the city.

As an indication of the swelling interest that is being taken in this beautiful tract it is only necessary to state that the record of sales for Sunday and Monday last aggregated $88,000.

GEYSER HOLDS RABBIT'S FOOT

[By Associated Press] GEYSER, Mont., April 18.—Spring grass may be expected to be crowded out by a luxuriant growth of four-leaf clovers in this little town of Central Montana, according to some of its residents, and a movement to change its name to Horseshoe might meet with little or no opposition.

An auto truck loaded with 600 quarts of nitroglycerine, left Casper, Wyo., for the Kevin-Sunburn oil field in northern Montana. On its overland journey, the truck with its contents reached Geysers. As it rolled down the main street one rear wheel fell off and rolled across the street. The axle dropped with a dull, sickening thud and pounded along the roadway as the driver endeavored to make a quick stop.

"These are boom times," the driver murmured when he realized that he was still in Geysers and still in one piece.

"What are you doing here?" he heard, and found himself looking at a star worn by the entire Geysers police force.

"I guess I'll look at this load; it looks like about 20 cases to me," continued the police force.

"It is," said the driver, "but don't drink it."

With some difficulty a garage mechanic was induced to affix the detached wheel. He was not bothered by traffic.

The driver of the truck was warned of a distance, that if he didn't move on he would be arrested for obstructing the street.

"Come and get me," he invited, but he was unmolested.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS TO MEET TONIGHT

The regular meeting of the Spanish-American War Veterans will be held tonight in the K. of P. hall, corner of Park and Brand. The declaration of war by the United States against Spain will be celebrated on this occasion.

BANKS AUXILIARY CUTS BUSINESS MEETINGS

To Hold Only One On the First Tuesday of Each Month

The regular meeting of Auxiliary No. 7 to N. P. Banks camp, No. 22, Sons of Veterans, was held last night at the American Legion hall with Mrs. Lula F. Paugh, president, in charge. It was decided that only one business meeting will be held each month, this to be on the first Tuesday. The third Tuesday will be observed as a social night and will be an open meeting to which members and their friends are cordially invited. Entertainment of cards and dancing will be provided.

After the meeting of the auxiliary the sons held a short session at which the applications of Robert Searles and Lewis W. Ball were read. They will be initiated at the next regular meeting which will take place May 1. The past commanders' degree team of Los Angeles is invited to come out and put on the initiatory work, which is very impressive. It is urged that all members of the auxiliary and camp be present. After the initiatory work the auxiliary members will serve refreshments.

The delegates to the convention to be held at Modesto have all given notice that they will be unable to attend and the three alternates are Melissa Wardfield, Carrie Baird and Cora Stuart, who are urged to attend the convention if possible, or to notify the auxiliary in order that new alternates may be elected.

VALLEY CHAMBERS FOLLOW GLENDALE

Endorse County Bond Issue for Hospital and Jail Betterments

Following the lead of Glendale's which was the first chamber of commerce outside Los Angeles to endorse the proposed county bond issue, the San Fernando and Sunland chambers have gone on record as being unanimously in favor of the project.

"At a general membership meeting the bond issue was unanimously endorsed," said C. S. McCormick, president of the San Fernando body, "and it is our earnest wish that this issue of bonds be sanctioned by the voters as a much needed, indeed, an absolute necessity."

Secretary C. C. Campbell of the Sunland chamber said that the issue was endorsed by his organization after very little discussion and continues "we are unanimously behind any movement to better conditions such as exist in the county institutions and only hope the voters of Los Angeles county will back up the bond issue on May 1."

The foregoing are but typical of the letters received from organizations in all sections of Los Angeles county, say committee members, and it is apparent that the residents are determined to remedy the overcrowded conditions at the county hospital, farm, sanatorium and county jail.

FINES WERE "RENT"
BRADFORD, Eng. (United Press) —When a local flower girl was fined four pounds for breach of a municipal by-law prohibiting hawkers in certain thoroughfares, it was stated that she had already paid 200 pounds in fines for similar offenses, but found the forbidden route so profitable that she was able to regard fines as rent.

"Gimme" Opens Tonight at the Glendale Theater

Another one of Goldwyn's Rupert Hughes' pictures, a smiling comedy-drama of everyday American life, with a tear lurking in it, is coming to the Glendale Theatre tonight for three days. It is called "Gimme," and the scenario was written by Mr. Hughes and his wife, Adelaide Hughes. It is said to be a picture which will appeal to every woman because it deals with that subject of perennial interest to womankind, a wife's financial dependence upon her husband—even for pocket money. All husbands and prospective husbands should see it to get a line on how to arrange domestic financial matters to keep their wives content and happy.

Goldwyn gave Mr. Hughes an exceptionally competent cast embracing Helene Chadwick, who gives one of her finest performances as Fanny; Gaston Glass, H. B. Walthall, Kate Lester, Eleanor Boardman, Max Wallace, Georgia Woodthorpe and Jean Hope. Cedric Gibbons, Goldwyn's art director, has designed some extremely beautiful sets for the picture, and the photography, by John Mescall, is fascinating. "Gimme" is a comedy which will satisfy admirers of Rupert Hughes' photographs.

CUPID RIOTS IN GLENDALE WITH WEDDING BELLS

Young People Spring Surprise on Their Friends in the City

"Why wait for June," said Cupid yesterday, whereupon he rang the wedding bells on four of his captives. These in the order of their announcement follow:

The many Glendale friends of Miss Lyndell Ruth Haven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haven of 409 Salem street, and Edwin R. Stivers of Glendale, were surprised to hear of their marriage on Monday, April 9, 1923, in Los Angeles. Mrs. E. R. Stivers, Sr., and Mrs. Lanier Bartlett, mother and sister of the bridegroom, accompanied them. Mr. and Mrs. Stivers, Jr., returned to Glendale Saturday night after having spent their honeymoon in Palmdale Canyon at the mountain home of the bridegroom. They are making their home at 409 Salem street.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Stivers are well known among the young people of Glendale, who are extending best wishes. Mr. Stivers is a brother-in-law of Mr. Bartlett of the Hupmobile agency, with which firm he is connected. He is the nephew of Dr. C. G. Stivers of Los Angeles.

The month of June will have to look to its laurels as the time of romance, for March and April appear to be running it a close second, particularly in the affairs of the young people of Glendale who have chosen this time for their weddings. Announcement of the marriage of Flora Mae McGhee and Harry J. Leitch, both of Glendale, which took place in Ventura on Friday, March 9, comes as a big surprise to their friends here, who were given to understand that the wedding was to take place some time in the late summer.

Mrs. Leitch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McGhee of 1229 East Broadway. Mr. and Mrs. Leitch were married at the Congregational church at Ventura by Rev. T. M. Patterson. Miss Alice Mercer and Edwin Mason of Glendale were the attendants. The young couple will make their home at 117 North Kenwood street. Mr. Leitch moved to Glendale from Canada about three years ago and is employed with the Title Insurance company of Los Angeles.

Mr. Porter E. Adkinson and Mrs. Hazel Crawford, both of South Pasadena, were united in marriage Monday noon, at the home of Rev. Clifford A. Cole, in the presence of Mrs. Amelia Brown of Eagle Rock, mother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Trice of Glendale. The groom is a life-long friend of Mr. Trice and is with the Santa Fe railway company. The couple will reside in South Pasadena after a wedding journey.

Two of Glendale's popular young folk were joined in marriage Monday night by Rev. Clifford A. Cole at the home of the bride, 216 East Broadway, when Miss Helen C. Fodergill became the wife of Gordon B. Mapes, son of Dr. Mapes of this city. Both young people have lived in Glendale a number of years and attended together the Brown-Berger Business College of Los Angeles. Mr. Mapes is an electrician and will engage in business here.

The bride was attired in a beautiful wedding dress of crepe de chine trimmed in Spanish lace and wore a bouquet of red roses. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. W. Jewell Standley, who are themselves newlyweds. The ring ceremony was used and after the wedding and the cutting of the wedding cake a short reception preceded the "going away" of the happy couple.

It was on the 31st of January that the mother of the bride became the wife of Mr. Amos H. Sullivan, making a rather unique experience in this home. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan and Mrs. A. H. Pironi of West Glendale were the only other persons present besides the attendants.

MAIDS AND MATRONS ENJOY PLEASANT EVENING

The Maids and Young Matrons' section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, enjoyed a pleasant and profitable session at the clubhouse Tuesday afternoon, the speaker of the day being Mrs. Kate Brew Vaughn, whose theme was the proper diet for children. It was followed by general discussion in which Mrs. Vaughn answered many questions propounded by the interested mothers.

Punch and wafers were served and tentative plans were made for the meeting of the section two weeks hence, at which members will entertain their husbands and friends with a dinner dance at the clubhouse.

Lots of wholesome fun and frolic, charming costumes, tuneful songs, attractive dances and specialty features promise to make this Fun Revue the most successful of musical comedies. The director, Nanno Woods, has worked day and night for the past three months on this production. Miss Dorothy Woods has trained the dancing girls to an unusual state of perfection. The solo singers, Evelyn West, Almene Bullock, Dorothy Morton, Frank Booth, Frank Butterfield and Soldier Caruso, present an array of talent hard to beat.

NEWS OF EAGLE ROCK

GREATER CIVIC ASSOCIATION FOR EAGLE ROCK

Sunrise Civic Club Plans Mass Meeting to Sign Up 500 Members

A greater civic club for a live part of a greater Los Angeles! This is a summary of the decision reached at the meeting of the Sunrise Civic Club in the east end school last night, when the question came before those present, as to whether the organization should continue as an individual body interested primarily in the east end, and working to accomplish the things of greatest benefit to that section, or should co-operate with all other civic organizations in Eagle Rock that care to co-operate, for the good of all of Eagle Rock. The majority of the members spoke favorably of consolidating with other associations, but a few felt that the activities of the east enders should be for the east end alone. A vote was taken, and practically everyone present chose to work for the greater good of the Eagle Rock district. President Mattison spoke at length of the benefit such a consolidation of civic clubs could be here, explaining the importance of such a large body of local voters when allied with the Federated Clubs of Los Angeles.

A committee from the local organization would then be allowed to sit in at the important conferences, their voice would be heard where the voice of a small group would not carry; they would be listened to, and be more apt to get those things which Eagle Rock is entitled to. Hollywood, Belvedere, and many other cities surrounding Los Angeles, have large organizations of this kind and have accomplished much in the way of public improvements, Mr. Mattison stated. With a membership of five hundred, at $1 a year, an organization could be built up here that would make a larger showing than any number of separate clubs. Working with the chamber of commerce to accomplish those things which the chamber finds needed in Eagle Rock, the two organizations should be able to accomplish much through the voice of the people. Chamber of Commerce members would be members of the new Civic Club also.

A meeting to discuss this question and organize is called for the evening of May 1, at the Central school. About 4000 application blanks will be printed and circulated throughout the community. These applications are to be filled out by all those interested in becoming members of the new Eagle Rock Improvement Club. If the number is sufficiently large to warrant the belief that Eagle Rock residents are in favor of having a voice in their future welfare, the club will be formed at the meeting on May 1 and officers will be elected.

The election of the Sunrise Civic Club officers has been postponed owing to the new plans.

REALTY BOARD BANQUET HELD YESTERDAY

L. B. Black of Glendale spoke at the Realty Board banquet which took place in the Eagle Rock Cafe Tuesday noon. Mr. Black's talk dealt with the way of making deals, and proved of value to all of those present.

Harry B. James, noted English monologist, now connected with James Phonograph company of Glendale, favored the board members present with a number of clever and amusing monologues and readings.

Thirty of the Realty Board members were present, and plans were consummated for attending the big realtors' convention in Long Beach on Saturday. Those who attend will meet at J. P. Brown's office on South Central at 8:30 o'clock. The party will then drive to Long Beach in a body, bearing flags and bedecked with the badges which will announce them as representatives of this district. Practically all of the local realtors will be in attendance at this convention.

MISS JOHNSTONE'S PUPILS APPEAR AT TERRY HOME

Distinctive Young Musicians Appear in Splendid Recital

Pupils of Miss Leora Johnstone appeared in a charming recital Saturday at the home of Mrs. H. J. Terry, 257 Windermere. Several young musicians who are studying with Miss Johnstone, and played in this recital, have won distinctions which place them high up in the juvenile musical world. Howard Mann was selected as the juvenile representative for the state at a recent recital of the Juvenile club. Max Caldwell has also exhibited exceptional merit in her work, winning a gold medal for the excellency of her technique.

The young musicians of the Eagle Rock district who played Saturday were Lauran Clapp, Lois and Alice Chambers, Harriet Wisdom, Campbell and Neal Weatherall, Carroll Lowe, Dempster Dirkes, Corinna Ries, Irene Proebbs, De Lisle Cutler, Madeline and Lois Hersom, Mary Jane Hutchins, Howard Mann, Marie Caldwell and Ruby Le Clerc.

FINE PROGRAM ENJOYED BY THE SUNRISE CLUB

Small as to numbers, but large in enthusiasm, the Sunrise Civic Club members met last night, and enjoyed a splendid program. Mrs. John C. Kraus of the Eagle Rock Music Company on East Colorado boulevard, favored those present with a highly pleasing solo, "A Little Gift or Roses," accompanied by Mrs. Rose, 211 North Acacia street. This number was so loudly appreciated that Mrs. Kraus and Mrs. Rose had to give an encore.

Mrs. Christine Pape Myers, local violinist, who has been on the concert stage, played two numbers, accompanied also by Mrs. Rose. A vote of thanks was extended by President Mattison to Mrs. Kraus, Mrs. Rose and Mrs. Myers for the splendid program.

President Mattison, realizing that the success of the new civic club which is to be formed would mean the end of the Sunrise Club in its present status as an east end community affair, spoke on the growth of the Sunrise Club since its organization a year ago this month with thirty-five charter members. Today this association has eighty-seven paid up memberships out of an application list of one hundred and seven. This is second in size to no club in Eagle Rock, except the Woman's Twentieth Century Club.

Later in the evening a vote of thanks was extended to the officers who have officiated during the year, and to President Mattison, also for the efficiency of his work as a city trustee. Appreciation was also given Mrs. F. M. Runge, program chairman, for the enthusiasm she has shown in all the affairs of the club.

attendance at this convention. Many distinguished guests will be there, as well as real estate operators of long experience. Friend W. Richardson, governor, and Frank Merriam, speaker of the house, will be honor guests of the day.

L. A. TRUCK DRIVER ESCAPES INJURY BY MIRACLE

Deep Rut on Glassell Avenue Causes Light Truck to Overturn

E. F. Kugsheer, driver for the Bowline Transfer company, 1210 S. Figueroa street, Los Angeles, was painfully cut about the face, but miraculously escaped more serious injury last night about 5 o'clock when the light truck he was driving overturned at the end of the pavement on Central avenue. Mr. Kugsheer, driving rather fast, left the pavement and turned into Glassell avenue. The roadbed is full of chuck holes and deep ruts at this point, and striking one of these as the truck swung into Glassell, it turned turtle, pinning Mr. Kugsheer underneath. Mr. Arthur Bailey of Eagle Rock, driving toward Eagle Rock, witnessed the accident and assisted a rescue party in extricating Mr. Kugsheer from the overturned machine. The radiator of the truck was smashed.

LA CRESCENTA FOLKS CALLED TO MEETING OF ASSOCIATION

LA CRESCENTA, April 18.—A special meeting of the La Crescenta Improvement Association will be held at the school auditorium Thursday evening at 7:30. Every resident of the valley interested in the improvement of streets and highways is requested to be present. The association will give a dance Saturday evening, the proceeds to be used for equipment of the fire truck.

Miss Gertrude Emerson, the writer, who has just returned to England from a two years' study of the people of India, said recently: "There is no woman question in India. Indian women are as blind to their privileges as the girl who married the barber. So you've married the barber, eh?" her former mistress said to her. "Yes'm; I've married the barber," said the girl complacently. "Humph. And you gave him that $200 you had saved up, didn't you?" "Yes'm; I gave him that $200." "Humph. Where is he now?" "He's off spendin' the $200 on his honeymoon, ma'am."

Elizabeth Mottern to Be Heard at Presbyterian Church

In graduating from high school in the class of '19 she captured the first musical scholarship. Her ability as an accompanist and in voice, in the College of Music of the U. S. C. was recognized by electing her as the official accompanist of the college. She is also the soprano of the quartet of the Presbyterian Church.

All music lovers and personal friends will be pleased to hear Miss Mottern, especially after her year's study in New York in voice under Percy Rector Stevens.

MANY CROWD TO HEAR JERRY JETER

JERRY JETER JOLTS "Johan never liked fish after that and as for canned salmon, good night!"

"The great fish could not digest Jonah and the hardest job the church has today is to digest its backslidden members, and the country its law-breakers."

"Jonah had the first submarine ride."

"I know the story of Jonah is true because Jesus Christ said it is."

"Suppose Jonah died, God raised him from the dead from in a fish as well as in a grave."

"The people who say there has never been a fish big enough to swallow a man are so small that a minnow could swallow them if their ears were pinned back."

"You can never begin again but you can begin now."

The Jerry Jeter tabernacle on East Broadway had the largest week-night crowd last night yet. The biggest afternoon crowd was also present at the 2:30 hour to hear Mrs. Jeter who gave a bible hour on "The Personality and Power of the Devil." Tonight Mr. Jeter will speak on "In the Receiving Line." He will also paint one of his best pictures, Dr. Edmonds and his people will attend the meeting. Thursday night a delegation is expected from Bob Shuler's church.

BUSTER BROWN ENTERTAINS KIDDIES

A crowd of happy youngsters and smiling mothers left the auditorium of the chamber of commerce Tuesday afternoon after a session of "Buster Brown" and "Tiger." Though none of his pep, and "Buster Brown" was able to tell a lot about the "Buster Brown Shoes" as well as about his adventures with Tiger.

Each child, and there were enough to crowd the hall, received a prize souvenir and some were "repeaters" as their bulging jackets proclaimed, to the great amusement of Mr. Winkler and his assistant, who dispensed the whistles, tops, and Buster Brown rifles with which the boys tried to "hold up" the crowd.

If success can be measured by the fact that everybody was happy, the "Buster Brown and Tiger" show was a great success. The onlookers were so many that every child who attended would demand to be taken to the Buster Brown store when new shoes were to be purchased. Tiger didn't seem quite so hilarious, but played his part with dignity befitting a venerable dog and child-lover.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—(United Press).—Speculation is growing as to who will take the place of John Black in upholding the honor of the state in the open championship golf tourney July 9 to 13 at Inwood. A tournament will be held at Burlingame at the country club there, May 16, to decide which professional to send east to replace John Black and Mortie Dutra, both of whom have left the state.

NATIONAL GAS APPLIANCE WEEK HERE

Special Prices and Inducements Are Being Offered

National Gas Appliance Week in Glendale is being observed by the live-wire stove and appliance dealers, and in many instances special prices and inducements are being offered those who desire to buy at this time.

Gas stove and water heater week is April 16 to 21, announces John A. Dignan, campaign director, who calls attention to the increasingly evident fact that no modern home is complete, efficient and economical unless its heating and cooking equipment is up-to-date.

"All the skill, science and research of experts are being brought into play to see that these essentials shall be of the best," states Mr. Dignan, "and that each new home shall contribute as much as possible to the health and happiness of its occupants."

"What wonder then, that the kitchen is no longer treated as a scullery, a place to spend as little time in as possible. The kitchen is the heart of the home, its most vital spot. From a drab, uninteresting place, the kitchen has burst forth like a butterfly with soft, harmonious walls, fetching window hangings, and all the intriguing tools which lighten kitchen work."

"The modern kitchen has an array of labor savers which were not even dreamed of a generation ago. But even the old equipment has changed. The table has grown up into a cabinet, the sink spreads out white drainboards, like wings, and rises from its back-breaking height. It is the range, however, which shows the greatest change. Instead of a huge coal range, spilling ashes and soot over the room. The modern kitchen boasts a compact cabinet gas range of white enamel and gleaming nickel. Good-looking in appearance, substantial in build, it conforms to the modern demand for a fuel that is clean and quick."

"Matches have gone out of fashion in the kitchen, at least for lighting the top burners of the gas range. The oven still requires a few, but in place of the endless match-striking to light the burners, comes a handy little lighter. This lighter fastens to the manifold which supplies gas to the burners, and a tiny pilot flame burns constantly. To light the burner, a slight pressure on the lighter button increases the flow of gas and shoots the lighter flame out to each burner. The burner lights. The button is released, the lighter flame decreases to its original size, all in an instant's time."

"With this convenient lighter, there is no accumulation of burnt matches, no reaching in past hot kettles to light the back burners. It is not even necessary to move pans to relight burners that have been turned out."

"Another feature of the lighter which commends itself to thrifty housewives is the opportunity it gives for saving gas. The gas that is saved when a pan is drawn from the fire for a moment hardly compensates for the effort of reaching for a match, striking it, and applying it to a hot burner. With the lighter, however, so little effort is required that it soon becomes a habit to turn off the gas when it is not actually needed for cooking."

Priscilla Dean Scores Big Success at T. D. & L. Theater

It is sometimes thought that unless a role is full of variations and complexities, an artist can not create a memorable figure. Yet in "The Flame of Life," the Hobart Henley Universal-Jewel production on the screen of the T. D. & L. Theatre, Priscilla Dean portrayed great in its very simplicity.

The figure is that of an ignorant girl in a mining village of North England, whose life is bound by the simple pastimes of working all day as a slate picker, getting beaten at night by her father and dreaming all night of being a "lady."

The story is thrilling, but human; fast moving, but complete. It pictures a novel atmosphere, the mining country in the northern part of England in 1870. Its people as the toil slaves of a mining village, its action the big and little events in their simple lives. A smashing climax is engineered through a mine catastrophe which envisions the horror of such life.

INTERNATIONAL TIME RECORDING CO. GETS HI AWARD

Price Is Fixed at $6500, Including Cost of Wiring

The International Time Recording company of New York, through the combined efforts of A. G. Wright, special school equipment representative, and D. D. Evans, sales agent for Southern California, and the heavy co-operation of the San Francisco agency, has awarded the contract for the new high school clock at a price of approximately $6500, including the wiring.

The equipment will be designed and manufactured at the Endicott, N. Y. plant, and will be similar to that used in many of the finest industrial and public buildings in the world. The installation will be the largest in the state of California and it is the intention of the Los Angeles branch of the International Time Recording company to make each new home shall contribute as much as possible to the health and happiness of its occupants.

A large weight driven master clock, impressive in appearance, and known as the most accurate manufactured—the latest development of engineering skill, will be centrally located in the Auditorium building and will in turn control electrically, approximately 115 wall clocks distributed throughout the auditorium building, science building and practical arts building, and will be amply large to care for any number of clocks that may be added in the future. These clocks are known as secondary clocks and there will be one placed in each class room throughout as well as the executive office, music room, etc. These secondaries will be impelled each minute by the master clock, thereby assuring uniform time to all parts of the three buildings.

The master clock will also control two electric impulse time stamps located in the manager's outer office and the waiting room, and an electrically driven fully automatic card recorder, located in the board and faculty room. In the physics room, No. 1 and No. 2, will be located a seconds' beat clock equipped with sounder, for the purpose of timing experimental work.

The master clock mechanism is driven by weight, known for many years as the most successful means of insuring accurate timing. The weights are kept in full wound condition by means of a motor, operated from commercial current and the clock is so designed that it will run eight days on one winding even if the current should be interrupted. It is also equipped with a mercurial pendulum which provides corrections for temperature changes.

One of the particularly interesting features of this time system is that it will automatically control class room schedules. Two large program instruments, having a capacity of six bell currents each, will be set so that bells will automatically ring at the end of certain periods, in the class rooms, assembly halls, corridors, playgrounds, and other places where a time signal is necessary. Each room will have its own individual buzzer and each buzzer will be connected to the program device through a 150-point cross connecting board so that any room or buzzer may be instantly changed from one program to another by simply pressing a button. One of the main points in connection with the program devices is that they are made entirely of metal, no paper tapes being used. They have been planned to meet the demand for a standardized program unit, constructed in accordance with modern electrical requirements and that is flexible in use and also provides for future enlargements and changes. The basis of this line is the International Universal all-metal Minute Interval Program Machine, built of heavy metal throughout and designed to do its work powerfully and positively with absolute precision.

The machines consist essentially of heavy drums made up of a series of brass discs about 10 inches in diameter by one-sixteenth of an inch thick, with radial slots around their circumference at minute and interval spaces. The program schedules are made up by inserting metal clips into these slots wherever signals are wanted. An inexperienced person can readily insert these clips and make changes in the program schedules. Each disc in its machine takes care of six hours of time. This means that a morning schedule of signals can be set up on one disc, an afternoon schedule on a second disc and an evening schedule on a third. Each disc carries a six-hour seven day calendar device for automatically throwing the disc in or out of operation for six-hour periods whenever desired during the seven days of the week. Special schedules can be set up on extra discs and automatically cut in whenever required.

These machines are placed in highly finished cabinets, independent of the master clock. Besides the program, each cabinet contains a relay for each circuit, a signal duration timing device; each circuit also has its own snap switch, push button, fuses, connectors, etc., to make the cabinet a complete program controlling unit for either manual or automatic operation.

The timing devices are of the clock escapement type and are adjustable from one to twenty seconds' signal duration. They close the bell circuits immediately after the minute impulse lets go thereby avoiding the throwing of bells onto the battery while clocks or the like are drawing current. This is a very important feature because bells often use so much current that they pull the voltage of the battery down enough to scatter the clocks.

Break glass fire alarm stations are to be installed throughout the entire group of buildings and they

SANITARY LEAGUE PLANS BETTER PLUMBING WEEK

Plans are being advanced by the Sanitary Development League of Southern California for the designation by city, county and state officials of a "Better Plumbing Week." Support has been obtained from many officials and, it is stated, there is a public demand for the innovation.

This week, which will probably follow closely upon the heels of "Cleanup week" and "Paint-up week" will be devoted to educational articles and advertising acquainting the public with the advantages and economy of installing the best in plumbing materials and in seeing that the plumbing of homes, factories and industrial plants is being properly cared for.

The movement will cover all of Southern California and is expected to have a most beneficial effect. During the 7-day period information will be provided for homeowners and for prospective homeowners on the salient points in the selection of good plumbing, on the economy of purchasing materials direct from reliable dealers, on the danger of installing "seconds" and defective porcelain and metal materials.

Literature descriptive of the modern methods of beautifying the home by careful selection of the toilet and kitchen plumbing items will be broadcast and speakers will address meetings on the subject of better plumbing.

The public has little idea of the giant strides made by the plumbing industry in artistic designs for bathrooms, in the sanitary provisions for factories and industrial plants, and in the perfection of the materials that are hidden behind the walls of all buildings.

Health authorities will tell of the importance of good plumbing as a preventative of disease and there will be a discussion of legislative measures that are needed to prevent the installation of slovenly, cheap and unsanitary systems that are often the cause of epidemics in communities.

More than 200 of the largest plumbing concerns are enrolled in the Sanitary Development League, the membership covering all of Southern California. They are identified by an emblem which is also used in their advertising.

All members of the league are pledged to maintain the highest ideals of the industry, to deal fairly with the public, and any of them will be glad to provide information to the public regarding the selection of plumbing for homes or otherwise.

EIGHT SUBURBAN HEIGHTS LOTS AVAILABLE

Eight of those especially desirable Suburban Heights homesites are on the market today, ready to be snapped up by far-sighted buyers. Last Saturday's sale, possibly the record-breaker in Glendale's real estate history, completely cleaned the Suburban Realty Co. out of offerings in unit No. 1 and it is only by the greatest piece of good fortune that the subdividers have been able to secure a few lots from the buyer of a big parcel of lots last week, thereby enabling some of those who were disappointed to gain one of these desirable homesites.

"These eight lots which we have taken back from a party who bought a little heavier than he could carry are being publicly announced today," said Alfred R. Johnson of the Suburban Realty Co. "In accordance with our ideas of fairness to the buying public. Last Saturday we announced that our sale would take place at 2 o'clock and that no sales would be made before that time. We faithfully carried out our program and everyone of the early arrivals made purchases that were entirely to their satisfaction and will, in our opinion, make them an especially nice profit within the next twelve months or even less than that. Now that we have a few of these 'sold' lots at our finger tips it is not our policy to keep these for a higher price or even pass them on to our friends. Our principle is 'A square deal for all,' and the fact that we are in the fortunate position of being able to pick up these lots and offer them to the public again does not, in our opinion, give us the right to make a profit on something that in all rights should belong to some prospective purchaser who came too late to secure a homesite."

"These few choice lots will therefore be sold just the same as if the whole deal was consummated last week. The same low prices, from $80 cash and $27.50 a month, will be the terms upon which the balance of these valuable scenic homesites that are available in this valuable Unit No. 1 will be sold."

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—(United Press).—The high school swimming season opened here Saturday, April 14, with teams from all schools entered in the events at Sutro Baths. Lowell, which has always taken the title, was expected to repeat. No one knows why Lowell always wins—but Lowell always has as far back as oldest inhabitants can remember.

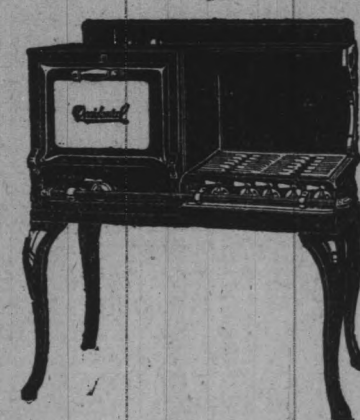

are to be operated from one central fire alarm relay. Should a fire break out in any section of the three buildings, all that is necessary is to break the glass of the nearest alarm box. Immediately upon breaking this glass all the bells throughout give the fire alarm by ringing a special fire code.

Truths in Epigram

All that is human must retrograde if it do not advance. — Gibbon.

And step by step, since time began, I see the steady gain of man. — Whittier.

Prosperity has its duty as well as its rights. — Drummond.

We promise according to our hopes and perform according to our fears. — La Rochefoucauld.

FREDERICKS IN THE LEAD

Indications that Capt. John D. Fredericks is to be the next congressman from the Tenth district began to appear the instant he had been named as a candidate. These indications move steadily on towards certainty. It is not to be denied that from the first he has been the outstanding figure in the contest. The gain in the volume of support is apparent. Each day some new group, embracing a large number of citizens makes known the intention not only to vote for Fredericks, but to help zealously in promotion of his campaign.

It is highly important at this time that there should be as successor to the late Congressman Osborne, a strong man with the personality that is the concomitant of leadership. Fredericks has for many years studied the problems of California. He knows its business and social needs. He has so intimate a knowledge of the affairs of this end of the state, of its resources, its ambitions and its rights, that his election is as vital to people outside his district as within. He is of the type that will cause him to work as hard for San Diego as for Los Angeles. Each of the cities close to Los Angeles, and not in the Tenth district, has as much at stake in this election as though the candidate were from the home town.

Captain Fredericks has the advantage of wide acquaintance. His public activities have made his career familiar. The people do not have to get acquainted with him; they know him. They understand his devotion to the interests of California. They have confidence that at Washington he would be a potent factor in shaping legislation in which they are concerned. His efforts would be for betterment of the harbor, for protection against undesirable aliens; always for building up.

Capt. Fredericks did not seek this preferment. He accepted the proffered honor. Having done so he expects to win. Having won he will do his full duty.

A DELICATE QUESTION

Two publications given currency in the mails, have been barred from the schools of Los Angeles. Concerning the inhibited magazines a member of the board said: "The Nation and the New Republic are so un-American we cannot see the necessity of placing them on the library shelves of our high schools."

The indictment against these papers must be considered sound. There are others similar in tone, but of so much less literary worth that it is hardly likely their existence will have to be recognized by school authority.

A person of mature mind, and somewhat settled judgment, might be able to read without harm, and even to the quickening of his faculties, a class of writing that would be unfit for the young. The principle is somewhat the same as that of the father who smokes, but forbids his son to do so. The father may have found that moderate indulgence does him no harm, but he is certain that cigarettes are not good for the boy.

It is a most singular thing that under the protection of the constitution, and having the benefit of the laws passed in consonance with the spirit of that document, there should be writers ready, not only to assail the methods of government, but to go as far as they dare in the attempt to overthrow the government itself. At least they make the studied attempt to prove its worthlessness, and to create the opinion that it deserves to be overthrown. When they do not utter treason, they applaud the utterance of treasonable sentiments hateful to the normal citizen.

The constitution permits freedom of speech. People believe in freedom of speech. There is difficulty in drawing the line. Opposition to the existing order is not a crime. Arguments in favor of a change do not of necessity take on the color of crime at all. Nevertheless there is natural hesitancy to sanction the outpouring of opinion that violates every sense of patriotism. To protect the young against the influence thus loosed, is not to deny them access to useful knowledge. The schools try to teach citizenship. They hardly could at the same time lend themselves to the spread of a doctrine designed to bring citizenship into contempt.

PLANS OF THE ENEMY

Several gentlemen high in naval service have told the people of this coast plainly that the disposition of ships was for the common interest and safety. Also that jealousy between localities, in so far as it tended to interfere with naval projects, lacked markedly the savor of patriotism. The people listened courteously, thought the matter over, and concluded that the officers were correct. Residents of this part of the state had been informed that the battleships were to go elsewhere. As the announcement came just as a decision had been reached to move the submarine base from San Pedro, there is no doubt that a feeling of temporary irritation was set up. It appears that the effect of proposed changes are not to be as at first indicated. The establishment of a navy yard at San Francisco is not designed to give the battleships a new base, or to leave the southern part of the coast divested of the accustomed activities.

Speaking of the outlook Admiral Jones said recently that the bulk of the navy would be concentrated at San Pedro, "not only for strategic reasons, but also because climatic and topographical conditions make it ideal for training."

It manifestly is fair that so far as consistent with proper defense, naval activities on the Pacific side be distributed from Bremerton to San Diego. The reason for this is so that citizens may realize that they have a navy, and be stimulated by intimacy, to be friendly, and to have a personal interest in its welfare. At the same time the point will be conceded freely that the disposition of the units of the fleet is a highly technical matter, and that the decision belongs to trained men. Realizing this, the public would refrain from grumbling at a ruling even though it might seem to the uninitiated to be arbitrary.

Having attempted to make peace between two engaged in fighting, a Brooklyn man got one bullet from each of the belligerents, an experience that precedent might have suggested as likely. However, when an editor compares the episode to that of the United States in entering the war when European gangsters were fighting, he merely is being a shade more foolish than usual.

Popular demand is for a change in the jury law so as to permit the finding of a verdict by nine out of the twelve jurors. If the legislature chooses to ignore the demand, the proposed amendment will get on the ballot through the initiative. There is a great weariness over the spectacle of justice defeated by one juror.

No man is necessarily charitable just because he gives himself away.

SO MODEST

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Washington, D. C., is in the midst of a seismic disturbance, not physical, which would be comparatively easy to endure, but moral and so horrible.

The Voluntary Parenthood league is on the job, hence the shocks. Senator Cummins, republican from Iowa, is backing the league which in its turn is backing a bill. The bill by removing the restrictions, not the prohibitions, now existing against the circulation of birth control literature will enable children to come into life as desired luxuries rather than as unwelcome visitations of a hard and indiscriminating fate.

Senator Cummins and the Voluntary Parenthood league will renew the fight to wipe out the Anthony Comstockian absurdities and indecencies that have disgraced the national statute books for half a century, and remove from the question of parenthood the stigma of being classed with the obscenities.

But its hard on the senate judiciary committee. These gentlemen are unable to discuss the reproduction of the race without blushing like a Salt Lake City sky at sunset. These poor old tykes are just plumb embarrassed by the suggestion of voluntary parenthood, and during the last session of congress they all managed to find a convenient and deep, deep hole whenever any of the league members or Senator Cummins have in to sight.

But John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi and Senator Watson of Indiana went the senate judiciary committee one better. They placed their hands on the bosoms of their frock coats and their eyes on the far horizon and firmly refused to receive the literature of the league in their offices.

These gentlemen were not going to be corrupted by any discussion of voluntary parenthood and so they scattered the chloride of lime about their polluted offices and turned the tails of their coats on the league.

Folks can wait babies if they choose, but there are some members of the United States congress who will see to it that such a desire finds no expression in the legislative halls of the nation.

Writers can write and speakers can speak of "longings," "hungerings of the soul" or use any high sounding phrases which they may select; but when it comes openly to an acknowledgment of a universal human desire for children, there is simply nothing doing. That kind of thing is breaking taboos and taboos are sacred. Well, it's a bad time for sacred taboos. Since the days of the Iconoclasts there has never such a cracking of tradition; and we hereby arise to predict that Senator Cummins and the Voluntary Parenthood league will smash the immodest modesty of our solons as the Iconoclasts smashed the images in the churches of the Byzantine empire.

There is nothing indecent in wanting children, and there is nothing indecent in refusing to have them when they should not, for their own sakes and the sakes of those already here, be born.

Modesty is all right, but it makes sensible folks smile to see what some legislators mistake for modesty.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

UNPARDONABLE CONSTRUCTIONS

(Find the error in this article.)

Closely associated with the right word is the right construction. The correction of the following two faulty constructions may prove interesting and helpful.

The first one is an example of a type not infrequently observed: "Sailing majestically up the bay, the pilot guided the huge ship to her anchorage."

The construction of the foregoing sentence makes it appear that the pilot was sailing majestically up the bay, because the word pilot is placed before the verb guided. Rearranging the words properly, the sentence would read, "Sailing majestically up the bay, the ship was piloted to her anchorage."

The second is also a bad construction: "He was a leader beloved by the masses and who was respected by his government."

Compare the foregoing sentence with the following correct revisions: "He was a leader beloved by the masses and respected by his government."

Note that the word and connects like words; as, beloved and respected; who and who.

Yesterday's Error to observe correct spelling in all of your reading.

Right: to observe correct spelling in all of your reading.

Vocabulary "Yesterday you mentioned incite as provoke, stir up, instigate, urge onward, or rouse to a particular action. But incite is a verb. What is the noun?"

There are four nouns; incitement; inciter; incitant; incitation. Incitant is also an adjective, as is incitative (accent on the ci). The adverb is incitingly. The second i is pronounced as ai in Alaska.

J. J. C. New York: "Are the words eastern, western, southern, etc., capitalized in the following: the eastern end of the property; the western idea; the climate of southern California?" Answer: The foregoing words, eastern and western, are correctly written. Southern should have been capitalized, as Southern California is the name of a section of the country.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

One thing about trouble is that it is not confined to any particular individual or class of individuals.

All of us have our share.

And there seems to be enough always to go around.

The fortunate individual is the one who can bear his troubles with fortitude and rise out of them.

The fruit grower has his. Frost and scale and things like that.

A hundred acres of promising trees.

And then something happens.

Frost or scale or something or other.

Or a mysterious ailment that makes the fruit fall from the tree before time.

The nut grower has his troubles to bear.

A promising almond crop. Trees full of beautiful buds.

And then bing! Frost later than it was to be expected.

No crop.

A lean year.

Of course it does not always happen.

There are years of bumper crops.

But in the years of bumper crops there are often low prices.

Corn yielding enormously.

And then a price so low that much of it has to be burned for fuel.

The wheat grower gets his share of trouble.

"I Heard a Soldier"—By Herbert Trench

I heard a soldier sing some trifle
Out in the sun-dried veldt alone:
He lay and cleaned his grimy rifle
Idly, behind a stone.

"If after death, love, comes a waking,
And in their camp so dark and still
The men of dust hear bugles, breaking
Their halt upon the hill.

"To me the slow and silver pealing
That then the last high trumpet pours
Shall soften than the dawn come stealing,
For, with its call, comes yours!"

What grief of love had he to stifle,
Basking so idly by the stone,
That grimy soldier with his rifle
Out in the veldt alone?

EMBLEM WEEK

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A WRITER suggests Emblem Week.

We are already rather full of weeks. There is Clean-Up Week, Safety First Week, Fire Prevention Week, Health Week, Thrift Week, and enough other weeks to fill up almost a year.

There is a good deal to be said, however, in favor of allowing Emblem Week to horn in.

The idea of Emblem Week is to emphasize and to call to our mind the greatest and most wholesome thought in all the world, which is the thought of brotherhood or the oneness of mankind.

This thought is the one thing that can remove the viciousness, narrowness, and selfishness from politics, from business, and from religion.

In each of these three domains the more we forget our divisions and remember our unity the better off we are.

It is suggested, therefore, that every one who understands this should wear some sort of a button or other symbol at least for one week during the year.

Somehow and some time the idea of the essential importance of the unity of mankind and the overwhelming value of humanity as against the nation, the state, the city, or any other smaller group, is going to take fire and run through the world of men.

All we can do is to keep trying one thing after another in the persistent hope that the time has come.

We have already a vast number of organizations that are built upon the idea of fraternity. There are Masons, Odd Fellows, Woodmen, Elks, Moose, Eagles, Owls, Lions, Red Men, Knights of Columbus, Knights of Pythias, and the like.

This thought is the principle of fraternalism is spontaneous and alive and is not some artificial thing that is contrary to human nature.

The Christian religion is the predominant faith of the people of the United States, and the very central idea of this religion is the oneness of mankind.

For many years Christians have been spending vast sums for missions, and the very point of missions is that the human race is a unit and that all men everywhere ought to co-operate in the realm of the ideal.

Beneath all our attempts at political unity there must be an ideal and emotional unity and perhaps the former waits upon the latter.

The suggestion, therefore, that the President of the United States take the initiative and once a year, issue a proclamation, recommending to the people the observance of Emblem Week is not one to be lightly dismissed.

Surely anything is worth doing that shall turn the human race away from its barbarous custom of decimating the young and vigorous manhood of the world, and destroying untold wealth created by years of endeavor, and turn our energies toward making this world "a decent place to live in."

High Buildings in Cities (Providence Journal)

In Boston a movement having been started for changing the rules governing the heights of buildings, many people may wonder why there should be any objection to skyscrapers like those erected in other cities. But conditions in Boston are unusual; the streets are so narrow that for years it had been overcrowded, and as high buildings invariably tend to increase congestion it was long ago deemed advisable to limit the elevation of business blocks.

The owners of valuable real estate naturally desire to increase their income by providing more floor space for tenants. In theory, the right to build up in the air is attractive, but in practice it sometimes does not work well on streets with narrow roadways and sidewalks. Doubling or trebling the number of occupants of a building correspondingly increases traffic blockades. If Washington, Milk, Summer and other streets were twenty or thirty feet wider, the probability is that there would be little objection to modification of the building laws.

This is a subject of interest in every large city having narrow thoroughfares. Is it cheaper for landowners to pay more taxes for highway widening or to be content with the smaller revenues from buildings not in the skyscraper class? Every community in which there are street blockades is likely to be called upon to answer the question.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Attention has been called to the manner in which the boll weevil has devastated and all but eliminated the cotton-bearing area of the south. Coupled with this is the assertion that the boll weevil cannot flourish in California or adjacent region, and therefore that this is destined to produce the cotton of the future. All of which seems reasonable enough, but too much faith ought not be placed in Nature for she is a tricky old dame.

When the Atlantic cable had been in operation a little while, something went wrong with it. The rubber protection with which it had been provided was inadequate, and the salt sea seeped through to the wire. Investigation proved that the mischief had been caused by a minute organism that brokefasted, lunched and dined on rubber. It never had been known to science. It seemed to have been created solely for the purpose of destroying a useful substance, and gumming up the communication of two continents. Nature had made humanity another unwelcome gift. She never appears to have exhausted the bag of tricks. Shut for the cornfield and chinch bugs for the waving wheat; that's Nature in jocular mood.

The point is that it is rash to be sure of anything. It is possible that the atmosphere of California and environs will remain uncongenial to the boll weevil, but that is no assurance of safety. A long line of precedents indicates that the weevil will have a successor. The kindly forces that devise a rubber-eating bug, are likely to get busy any time cotton offers temptation and the boll weevil isn't among those present, to take advantage of the opportunity.

In the language of the street "you have to hand it" to Chaplin. Perhaps something also should be handed to the press agent. It may be that Chaplin himself has attended to this detail.

For many weeks there have been stories running in series concerning the proposed marriage of Chaplin with another star. Nobody has any particular reason to believe a word. There is no reason to think that Chaplin has any intention of marrying. In truth, there is not the slightest reason for caring whether he marries the woman in question now or never; or marries somebody else. But the series of yarns shows no sign of getting to a finish.

The real beauty of a publicity stunt is that it fools people into thinking they are reading something interesting.

Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania has changed his mind. He was against the League of Nations. Now he is for it. Senator Pepper seems to be sincere. It takes courage sometimes to admit a change of mind. Senators have been known to dissemble such changes, voting against conscience for the sake of obeying orders.

According to reports, officers of the law, raiding a house, took all the portable furnishings for their own use. Far from giving a good excuse for this, they have not even named a reason for the making of the raid.

The public is not pleased when its protectors act in this manner.

Every daily paper supplies a number of items tending to support the belief that the practice of carrying weapons does not work for the general good.

Thugs shoot a police officer, a girl shoots herself, a man displaying his new pistol kills a friend. Something like this in every issue. By the simple process of disarmament of the individual, a large proportion of the tragedies could be averted. Perhaps the experiment would be worth trying.

Chicago is warring on a proposed Sunday Blue law, and no wonder. Such a law would mean nothing except continuous breaking. It seems idle to pass a law that would not be a restraint, and that the people of Chicago as a whole would ignore.

Of course the fact that a law is not a complete deterrent could be no argument against it. Otherwise there is no law in the books that could stand. But a law that would be no restraint whatever, but on the other hand, an instant provoking to violations, could be nothing but the instrument of mischief.

The "most beautiful man" of Spain has come to this country to escape the women. The poor chap has come to the wrong place. However, if he's after a job in the movies.

The Irish government after a year faces a deficit of vast proportions. The conducting of a civil war costs money.

The McCormick girl is said to have married her hostler or whatever he is. Now the boon of forgetting her temporarily seems to be in sight. Of course she will bob up later in some connection, probably with a divorce court.

Another protege of the angel of the county jail seems to have gone wrong, for he's in San Quentin now. While he was under the angel's wing he was married to a girl who was enjoying the same shelter.

This angel person ought to cut out the angelic stunt. Nothing but trouble seems to have come of it.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN DILGRIM

The neighborhood opinion has been that F. Richard McCormack was a Runt. A Pest. A Bad Egg. F. R. Mc. is no more than seventeen, but he has enough units of velocity in his make-up to supply a truck train. If he lived in the country he would be a bird's nester, a melon patch pirate, and a danger to orchards. Being a city youngster he has exercised his surplus energies in being a general nuisance.

"Come here, Mac," said his boss one day, "You're no good around the office. Take Big Steve and get him his first papers."

Big Steve's story would be worth telling if there were space. He is a Serb, a veteran, the strongest man in the freight room, and absolutely dependable. It was just by chance that his boss discovered that Big Steve had vague aspirations toward citizenship, but did not know how to go about it. Hence the job for F. Richard McCormack.

"It'll get that brat out of the way for a while, anyhow," said his boss, grimly.

F. R. Mac started out to kid Big Steve. Then he discovered that the big fellow was pathetically in earnest about being an American citizen. In the depths of his voiceless being he had been grieving because no one had ever asked him to become a citizen. He had tried to fit himself for citizenship in the only way he knew—by being hard working and honest and decent. But no one had seemed to care!

"Every one say 'Big Steve helluva good man,'" he confided to Mac. "No one give a damn whether he 'Merican or not."

Perhaps it was only that Mac's bursting energy compelled him to find an outlet, but he went into the business of making citizens. Big Steve had friends, also, rather stupid, slow, heavy, dependable men, who luxuriated in the peace and order and prosperity of this country.

"We just nobody," they explained to Mac, "but the kids, mebbe they be somebody some day."

Mac's activities have had a queer reflex action on Mac. With each candidate for the Exalted Order of Citizenship he has become a bit more dependable and likable himself. The boss says he'll put him on the road soon.

"He's a comer," he says proudly. "Darn little runt!"

BAPTISTS TALK OF ROTARIANS PLAN FOR BOYS' WORK

Church Plans for Fine Program; Edifice Is Finished

Burbank Baptists are looking forward to Dedication Day, when the new church, corner of Third and Magnolia, will be finished. Tuesday, the pastor, Rev. E. A. Main, and the trustees met to make preliminary plans for the program. It is expected it will be sometime in May.

Several are awaiting the ordination of baptism and it is planned to have the baptistry flooded with rose colored lights at that time. One of the admirable features of the new building is the number of individual class rooms surrounding the auditorium. There are ten Sunday school class rooms.

SPEED IT IN AND PAY IT OUT

"Where was Dr. A. E. W. Yale, Tuesday? I went up to speed court just to see if he would tell Judge Crawford about his new suit which he was wearing the day he was pinched but he wasn't there. The entire court room was filled, but Dr. Wilson, sitting up on the front row, was the only one I knew," said one Burbank neighbor to another.

The drivers who speeded their way in and paid their way out added a neat sum to the city fund this week for there was more than half a hundred, who stood before the judge to explain that they never knew they were exceeding the speed limit, or that they didn't talk English.

Work in the court went along at a good clip. Usually the routine was, name called, charge made, "guilty, your honor," fined and out they go. There were a few cases that slowed down the procedure such as when two boys stepped up and one boy explained that the other was his cousin who could not talk English. Judge Crawford said to the interpreter, "Ask him how old he is?" Immediately the young fellow, who could not understand English answered "twenty-one." So the judge asked them to wait a moment while the boys were tried and they would have time to talk it over.

Within little more than an hour the fines had rolled in in fives and tens, fifteen, twenty and thirty, totaling more than two hundred from among those present. There were many who were not present who are still to be heard from.

Wandering into a burlesque house, a critic spent some minutes in disapproving contemplation of a lively skit. The skit was based on the familiar theme of twin brothers. There were two pairs of them. Complications due to mistaken identity bobbed up every moment and there was plenty of rough stuff. The author came around and the critic proceeded to read him a lecture, concluding by demanding: "Now where did you get all this horse play?"

"I lifted it bodily from Shakespeare," replied the author quietly. "This is merely a condensed version of the 'Comedy of Errors'."

Burbank Club Hear Lawyer's Address About Young People

Rotarians heard Asa Keyes, head deputy to the district attorney's office at their luncheon Tuesday noon. He spoke forcefully, from a broad background of observation on a subject in which he is greatly interested—the proper education of young people in order to eliminate crime.

Crime among the young has increased a hundred percent in the city of Los Angeles since the war, he said. This has naturally brought about a careful study of the crime question on the part of students and scientists.

The cure lies in the proper education of the youth is the conclusion of the analysis of the situation. Mr. Keyes lauded the Rotarians for the work that they are doing in helping the young people.

Rotarian Munro of Montrose, was an out-of-town guest, and spoke of Rotarian principles.

Dr. Philip Zeiss, Leonard Collins, superintendent of grammar schools, and Dale Eicher are the members of the committee appointed to outline a definite program in helping the boys of Burbank. They will report next Tuesday on the plans arranged.

PASADENA GIVES GOOD CONCERT

The Burbank Choral club was delightfully entertained Tuesday evening when the Pasadena Fine Arts club, under the direction of George Mortimer, presented an excellent musical at the Edison building.

The program opened with the graceful bit of charming song, "Hark! Hark! The Lark," sung by the Glee club, Miss Junia Wolff, Miss Ruth Pinkerton and George Brown. They sang two other numbers, "The Evening Star" and "Since First I Saw Your Face," and the madrigal, "Bright Dawns Our Wedding Day." All three were tremendously liked by the audience and were heartily enjoyed.

Like commending the mountains for the wonderful ever changing color it is to praise the Pasadena musicians for the program, which combined nearly all the elements and qualities that music knows.

Miss Junia Wolff pleased greatly with her solos, the Aria from "Thais" (Massenet) and "A Dutch Lullaby." George Mortimer not only directed but sang "The Vagabond," and in a duet with George Brown sang "Excelsior." These and the solo of George Brown, "Songs We Used to Sing," and Miss Ruth Pinkerton's numbers, "O Love Thy Mother" (Saint Saens) and "Spirit Flower" completed the program of songs.

Reginald Bland, with exquisite are, played two violin solos, "Romance Andalus" and "Ava Maria" (Schubert). Mrs. Clara Bryant Heywood read "My Ship," negro dialect and "Bill Smith."

The entire program was distinctively artistic and one which every Choral club member enjoyed fully. After the recital was over the Burbank people gave them a reception, serving ice cream and cake and coffee.

LINCOLN, THE HUMANIZER

By BLANCHE BENNETT

The greatest men are those whose fame cannot be wholly accounted for by their public acts.

What Lincoln was is incomparably greater than anything he did. The place he occupies in history is his because of duty done than of glory won. In moral height and in human service he measures up to the immortals of all ages. As he looms ever larger in the perspective of time, we constantly realize that he does not recede to a dim, legendary figure, but grows clearer in outline, clearer in human sympathy. His simple goodness—his honesty, courage, kindness, deep sense of duty and love for humanity—we regard with reverence and know that we must strive mightily to equal.

Nothing that ever happened so justifies the belief in the capacity of the common people for self-government as the fact that Lincoln's great heart and brain sprang from poor, unlearned ancestry and were nourished in the barren soil of backwoods life. He was born in Hardin county, Kentucky, February 12, 1809. His home was but a log cabin with a dirt floor. He had none of even the commonest comforts of our modern times. The school was nearly five miles distant and very poorly equipped. His mother died when he was but a boy of nine and he helped his father make a rude coffin in which his mother was buried. Then he wrote his first letter, one to a traveling preacher, to stop on his next round and say a prayer over her grave. To his mother, who had urged him to learn all he could and be of some account in the world, he owed much in the shaping of his character. Honesty, loyalty, affection, willing service and striving after every kind of good, marked the twenty-one years he spent under his father's roof. For good measure he added six months to help the family establish themselves in their new home in Illinois in 1830. He helped build the cabin, cleared land for corn and split walnut rails to fence the clearing. Thirty years later some of those rails were carried into the Chicago convention and helped win for him the nomination for the presidency. Little he thought of such a thing when in the autumn he tied his extra shirts and home-knit socks in a big cotton handkerchief and turned his face to the nearest settlement of New Salem—there to begin life as a man.

He tried many kinds of work; as a trader he was a failure, but his moral, social and mental gifts fitted him to become a leader.

When the United States was plunged in the great struggle between the slave states and the abolitionists, Lincoln was immediately recognized as a great leader. He had also gained renowned fame in the Lincoln-Douglas debates.

Then, in one of his speeches before the Chicago convention he made an observation that set the nation thinking. "A house divided against itself cannot stand. I believe this government cannot remain permanently half-slave and half-free." Freedom for the negro meant much to him. Constitutional government meant more. He believed in freedom for the negro, yet he saw how essential it was that that freedom be safeguarded from above and from beneath.

Thus, at this time, when men were almost dehumanizing the Constitution, he came to re-educate government to human helpfulness. No one realized better than he the absolute importance of preserving the Union, yet none more than he desired the freedom for those enslaved under that Constitution.

However, when Lincoln became president he was not pledged to abolish slavery, only to preserve the Union and to prevent the spread of slavery. But the secession movement began as soon as Lincoln's election was assured. In his inaugural address he declared that the federal government would not assail the rebellious states, but that it would defend, protect and preserve the Union if attacked.

Within a month all the states had arrayed themselves on one side or the other and the four years Civil war began.

No man clothed with such vast power ever wielded it more tenderly and more fearfully. No man holding in his hands the key of life and death ever pardoned so many offenders so wholeheartedly.

For two years he kept consistently to the task of preserving the Union. Then he issued the emancipation proclamation and from this on the prosecution of the war had the added purpose of freeing the slave. He realized to the full with what bitterness the South would receive this act, but he believed it was necessary to cause suffering to a few that many might thereby be saved. Never had the world seen a greater example of wisdom, patience, patriotism and moral courage than animated this act.

He was pre-eminently a democratic ruler. Profoundly believing in a government of the people, by the people and for the people, however earnest his wish, as a man, to promote and enact justice between classes and races, he never went faster nor further than to enforce the will of the people that elected him. His strength as president lay in his deep sympathy with the people, "the plain folks," as he loved to call them, and in his knowledge of all their thoughts and aims, their prejudices and preferences. He was elected to save the Union, not to destroy slavery, and he did not aid, directly or indirectly, the movement to abolish slavery, until the voice of the people was heard demanding it in order that the Union might be saved. He did not free the negro for the sake of the slave, but for the sake of the Union. He signed the proclamation of emancipation solely because he firmly believed it had become impossible to restore the Union with slavery.

Like the nation itself, Lincoln, although personally opposed to slavery, was but slowly educated into the belief that no republican civilization could endure with slavery as a corner stone, or even as one of the pillars, of the Temple of Democracy.

When the Gettysburg battle field was dedicated as a national cemetery, Lincoln was asked to speak. His brief address on that occasion will always remain one of the greatest ever uttered, both for its lofty sentiment and for its simple, matchless literary style. Lincoln's wondrous words at Gettysburg will never be forgotten. It will live until languages are dead and lips are dust. It was so quietly uttered, so unexpectedly brief, that those who heard it did not realize their privilege until they saw it in print. Some of his speeches have never been equalled. It was not his scholarship; it was not rhetoric; it was not elocution; it was the unaffected and spontaneous eloquence of the heart. There was nothing of the mountain-torrent in his manner—it was rather the calm flow of the river.

Not until afterwards was it understood that in its pilot this country had one of the greatest heroes of all time. Love, reverence and gratitude were in the votes by which he was re-elected. In his second inaugural address, delivered six weeks before his assassination, he set forth the moral significance of the conflict that threatened to divide the Union, and declared that the task would be finished "with malice toward none, with charity for all."

Five days after Lee's surrender, President Lincoln was shot by J. Wilkes Booth at Ford's Theater, Washington. He died the next morning without recovering consciousness.

Never again shall the nation see such a pageant of mourning as marked the progress of his funeral train to Springfield, Illinois, where in the sweet spring weather he was laid away. A noble monument marks his resting place. The weather-worn log cabin that sheltered his boyhood is to be reverently preserved within a marble temple.

The best way to estimate the true value of Lincoln is to think

PRESBYTERIAN WHERE DID THEY MEN TO EAT TOGETHER

Church Members Will Enjoy Fellowship Dinner

Thinking the plan of the Rotarians, the Kiwanians and the Realty board of Burbank, of eating together, a fine idea—the men of the Presbyterian church are to meet Thursday for a good fellowship time together.

The Ladies' Aid Society will serve the dinner at 8:30 o'clock. If the meeting is as enjoyable as it is hoped and expected, such friendly gatherings will be held once a month, the pastor, Rev. Thomas Stevenson said, when announcing it.

SCRAP BOOK CLIPPINGS

ANTONIO DVORAK (Humoresque)

Antonio Dvorak was born September 8, 1841, in Bohemia and died 1904. His father was a butcher and innkeeper. At the age of 12 he studied piano and pipe organ. At the age of 16 he began the study of church music at Prague.

While studying he had to earn his living and did this by playing the cello in cafes and in orchestras. Five years later he obtained a position in the orchestra at the Prague Theatre which in 1871 became a national theatre.

He wrote many symphonies, operas and compositions of chamber music. The Austrian government gave him an annual stipend of $240 for his symphony, "Squads from Moravia." His first comic opera was "The King and the Collier," written in 1875.

His best known work was the Slavonic Mass written in 1883. This was so much more successful in England than after they praised it so highly he wrote many things for English festivals.

He came to New York in 1892 as the director of the National Conservatory where he received $15,000 a year. He kept this place for three years. While in America he made a study of the Indian and Negro melodies and later wrote them into his symphony, "From the New World."

One of the noticeable qualities of his work is the manner in which he imbues his music with the national spirit. The distinctly Slavonic rhythms and harmonies are embodied in his compositions.

what the condition of America would be today if he had never lived—never been president. He was the courage, the hope and the nobility of the nation. All that he did was with the hope that in due time the weight would be lifted from the shoulders of all men and that all should have an equal chance, not alone to the people of this country, but to all the world, for all future time.

In statue, bust and portrait we have all been made familiar with Lincoln's tall, spare figure, strong features, heavy black hair and deep-set gray eyes. We are equally familiar with his simple, friendly manner, his humor, his illuminating anecdotes, his ability to endure hardships, and the wistful expression he often wore as if he had missed his reward of happiness. In speech he was plain and forcible, often unconsciously dramatic; in mind he was quick to observe, could reason, well, was sagacious; he had a tenacious memory, intuitive knowledge of character; and broad-minded philosophy.

He had the brain of a wise man, the foresight of a prophet, and the firm purpose of the historic reformers and the tender heart of a mother. He was human in the best and highest sense of the word. And his greatest reward was that his humanity found its response in the renewed purpose of his fellow citizens to abide peacefully under a single government, the government planned by its founders to preserve the ideals of Democracy. He had command of Power, Justice and Peace, and in these lies the glory of the regenerated republic.

Volstead Arguments Give $150 to Burbank for Spree

Messrs. Lopez and Merguera not only looked upon the wine when it was red; but they drank long and deep of it, and then carried two gallons of it around with them. Perhaps their own home town folks in Lankershim would not have noticed it, but they wandered too far from home with their package.

When they got to the corner of San Fernando boulevard and Magnolia avenue, the Burbank police force took charge of them and their wine and they all went to the city jail.

Judge Crawford fined them $75 each, and the two Mexicans returned to their homes where they will work in their truck gardens until they can gather together some more money to buy wines and fines and headaches.

Dringsten is assisting on the police force for the next three weeks while Mr. Tupper is absent.

And the quiet days come after,
Where the dusk and shadow lies.

Dreams that grow up and leave us,
Leave us as children go,
And the house is so big and lonesome,
And the hours are old and slow.

And then at the shadowed evenings
A watch for them all we keep,
Out through the dusk and darkness
While thicker the shadows creep.

And we think in the dusk we see them,
And we look with shaded eyes,
But out in the dark is quiet,
And only the shadows rise.

And never the voices crying
As they did in the days before,
And never the figures flying
As once at the open door.

And somewhere afar they are dancing,
And somewhere afar they roam,
And it's still out there in the darkness,
And it's lonesome here at home.

BARD SECTION HOLDS ITS REGULAR MEETING

The members of the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club held their regular session Monday in the tea room of the clubhouse. In the absence of the curator, Mrs. Walter Jones, the business session was in charge of Mrs. H. C. Vandewater. The first act of Henry VIII was studied, under the direction of Mrs. Macy Garrett, instructor. Final arrangements were made for the Shakespearean tea to be held Monday afternoon, April 23, at 2 o'clock. There will be a scene from "Romeo and Juliet," presented and in addition to this the play, "The Bear," will be given by outside talent. A ballet dance is to be put on under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattin. After the program refreshments of tea and cake will be served.

ed in the tea room. The hostesses at yesterday's meeting were Mrs. H. L. Clotworthy and Mrs. S. C. Leppelman.

"BRONZE AGE" GRAVE

EDINBURGH (United Press).—A grave, believed to be 2,000 years old, has been discovered in Kincardineshire, Scotland. Digging on his farm, a Caterline farmer came upon a peculiarly marked slab about four feet below the surface, and under this were four other slabs of larger size. Beneath all was a full-size human skeleton, with an ancient urn beside the skull. Antiquarians pronounce the grave to be typical of the Bronze Age, and experts are further investigating the discovery.

"No, my son, of course it isn't tomorrow," was the reply.

LA CRESCENTA TO HAVE FILM PERFORMANCE

LA CRESCENTA, April 18.—A C. Currie and C. Peters are planning to have moving pictures at the school auditorium Friday evening, April 27, and will have a show every Friday evening in the future. Splendid music and the very best pictures they can procure will be featured. Admission will be 30 cents for adults and 15 cents for children. The picture machine is one of the best made and the class of shows planned by Mr. Currie and Mr. Peters should have the support of the entire valley.

GENEROSITY UNAPPRECIATED
LONDON (United Press).—Sitting in the main business street of Bromley, a well dressed man tossed chocolates and cigars to passers-by. He had boxes of both. Police made a friendly call and the man declared himself to be the prime minister. The "something for nothing" gentleman is under medical care.
